Information on Regulation on deforestation-free products (EUDR)

On June 9, 2023, Regulation (EU) 2023/1115—known as the EUDR—was published with the aim of combating deforestation and forest degradation.

The EUDR will enter into force on December 30, 2024.

There will be a transitional period for timber that is processed in 2025 but was harvested in 2024.

All companies placing products listed under the EUDR on the market must ensure that these products:

- a. are free from deforestation,
- b. are produced in accordance with the relevant laws of the country of production, and
- c. are subject to a due diligence statement.

All our suppliers are committed to ensuring compliance with the EU Deforestation Regulation (EUDR).

The implementation of data collection processes and the transmission of information to the EU's TRACES system is currently being established across all suppliers.

We are in regular contact with our suppliers and will promptly communicate any new developments on this topic.
